Registered interests: Looking forward to working with staff and governors to enhance children's experiences

Current Job Role: Strategic HR in the public sector

I'm really excited to join the board as a parent governor.

My relationship with LPS started in 2020 when my eldest child joined, and 18 months on I'm excited about the opportunity to challenge myself in what is a new role for me, but one in which I hope to contribute to the school's ongoing success.

In my professional life, I work in strategic HR, currently focusing on leadership in resourcing and reward in the public sector. More broadly I have experience in working with leaders and practitioners in various environments to shape and execute business strategy. Outside of work, I enjoy fitness, films, fiction and football, and am energised being around different people. I hope that the transferable skills I've been lucky enough to develop through my career and hobbies will enable me to support the board of governors and the school.

I went to school on the Wirral, studied for my degree in Liverpool, and recently put myself through a Masters degree. I have also run a local football team for over 10 years and volunteered in schools and colleges, so have experienced different types of learning environment. Each in their own way has helped me understand and appreciate the significance of support, enrichment, and continuous improvement, and I believe this is driven by an effective partnership between all stakeholders – parents, teachers, students and the wider community.

Overall, I'm excited to work with everyone involved with LPS, and look forward to seeing you around school.
